

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a list or inventory, located in the upper right quadrant of the page. The text is written in dark ink and includes several lines of entries, some of which are partially obscured by a small tear in the paper. The entries appear to be organized in a structured manner, possibly as a table or a series of entries with associated numbers or dates.