

119/ Illustris Domine,

Domine gratiose: Præteritis mîndis literar et gratiarum meâ te accepisse confido, nunc quod pollicitis fieri transmitto, si quæ fontes dentur et ad manus meas perveniant, ut jussisti, habere his. Sub eundem conjoco commentarium in constitutione p. p. p. vilegionum volebam scribere; Frederici I. Imp. Henricus Dux Saxonia et Boemaria datus de illustri Episcopatu Litu-berensis, Silesiensis et Ratiboricensis; Ex quo Henrico illustissima familia Bismarck-Brunsvicensium et Lüneburg gentium origine trahit. De quo nihil tibi pollicor, ac quod illis tibi SAPIENTISSIMUS largietur. Deo vero se defero, ne forte me, Patrone Contigite, in officina literaria existimes. Cuius, quæ tibi fieri debeat, et me tibi legere, tibi gratias tibi; Si quibus in et vni jure me tibi est, honori tuo, ut per te, quæ tibi, modo tibi, tibi, in eius in dno me ddo, et tibi felicia precor! Dab. Brunsvig, 21. Aprilis, 1629.

Illustris Dominationis Tæ

lud

Al. Bismarck

[Faint, illegible handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

Van Dyke, John
from Madison, Delaware has been in the field, after some time, at the Columbia, and has been in the field since

Small
on the side

