OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR

August 18, 1927.

My dear Friend:

It is a great pleasure to receive the third fascicle of the Dictionary, which has just reached my desk, and I hasten to send you an acknowledgment before my departure on a little vacation. I know it must be very gratifying to you to see the consummation of your many years of labor appearing so rapidly and in such pleasing and successful form.

I am just leaving this evening with James, Jr., for two or three weeks vacation in the Big Horn mountains of Wyoming, where we shall be living on a ranch. We shall go horse back riding every day and each of us, for that purpose, will have a cattle pony. Each guest on the ranch is assigned a pony for the entire length of his stay and learns to know all the peculiarities of his horse. These cattle ponies are very amusing but sometimes also very vexatious. We are taking trout rods with us and shall ride up into the mountains to fish for trout. It is a wonderful country — I only wish you and Frau Professor could see it.

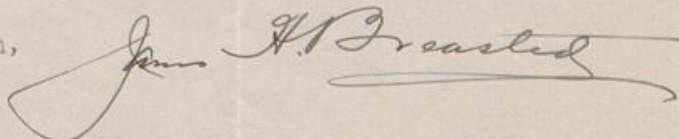

We sent off to you about a fortnight ago another package which we hope arrived in safety.

I am still filled with regret that our Berlin visit last spring proved impossible. I shall make every effort to arrange it for my next trip, but will of course let you know well in advance.

Frances joins me in heartiest greetings to you and all your household.

Ever yours,

Professor Dr. Adolph Erman,
36, Peter-Lenestrasse,
Berlin-Dahlem,
Germany.
