Dear Sir

Very many thanks for the Post-Card which I received from you this morning.

I fear that my last letter has missed you in some degree. I should be, unfortunately,

quite unable to follow
with advantage your valuable Lectures in the coming Summer-Semester. The
amount of German
which I, as yet,
understand makes that impossible. I must therefore be content to come later to Berlin;
and am now writing to beg that you will have the kindness to tell me if there be no opportunity, in the Winter Semester, for beginners to take advantage of your lectures.

With many Apologies for thus a second time
troubling you,

I am, Dear Sir,

Yrs. faithfully

W. E. Crum.
