My dear Erman

Although, ever since I first heard of it, I had determined not to forget you on the 11th Oct., and although I marked that day in my calendar, yet here it is, gone by, and until today I have not remembered it!
However, if my congratulations to Frau Erman and to you are belated, they are not the less hearty. My wife joins in them and we wish you both every kind of happiness, for many years to come.

It all seems a very old story now, since I went first to Berlin and made your acquaintance: in the spring of '89 it was. I very well remember my first interview with you, in the Klopstockstraße. I have made no acquaintance that has been of more importance in my life than that.

I wish I were, like Griffith, in Berlin, to bring you both our congratulations. I must try to get there before I am much older.

Ever yours
A. S. King
