Dear Professor Brown

I suppose we both believe in the National Cause for which we are at war. It would be a terrible thing not to. But we can believe that more in the personal character of our friend who believes and follows the cause ideal in life as we do, despite these terrible and understanding of the -

- Salutes of personal rights.
They, this terrible war soon come to an end in the way best fitted to promote culture & happiness themselves if in any case ~~the~~ find international friendships will be the best. We shall all have lost strength without losing there as well. I do not know if this will reach you but I wish to send it as soon as possible. Davies
