Dear Professor Eiman

I have not yet thanked you for the delightfully written account of the Chester Beatty papyri. When thus rendered into a language different from my own, they really do seem most attractive and interesting.

In twenty minutes I start on my summer holiday, but did not wish to leave

London without sending you a few words. At the same time I am sending you a typescript of the account of the great Brooklyn revenue papyrus which I recently read at Capart's Semaine égyptologique. You will see that I have not studied the papyrus much yet, but it will undoubtedly prove of the highest possible interest. Perhaps Fran Professor (to whom my kindest greetings) will read it to you. After that I should be most grateful if it could be returned

I hope that your health remains good, but it must be a terrible deprivation to be unable to see. The same fate has befallen my poor friend Sir James Frazer.

With very best greetings Very sincerely yours

Alan H Gardiner
