My dear Eрман,

Your *Neuegyptische Grammatik*² reached me a few days ago, and has astounded me by its detail and power. It takes me back to 1882 when I received the first edition, an epoch-making work indeed, which gave me the first hope of understanding Egyptian! How can you have weak sight or be getting old (!) when you can do such work as this? Your grasp of the texts and problems is as strong as ever. I have read nearly one third of the book, and I reckon that it contains at least three times as much writing as the first edition, notwithstanding that you have omitted the transcriptions into European characters. It is a marvel of observation and analysis. How Goodwin would have rejoiced over it, and Chabas!

With profoundest thanks, and heartiest congratulations

Yours very truly

J. H. Griffith
