June 28th - 1900.

My dear Professor Erman,

May I take the liberty of asking you what book you could recommend as a trustworthy account of Egyptian religion? I have, of course, your Aegyptische Leben and need not say how much I have got from it. But what I need is a more detailed account of the religion especially. The subject was recently forced upon me by the absurdities - so, at least, they seemed to me - of Budge's books on the subject. I am sorry to take up a moment of your time but a postcard from you on this matter would be received most gratefully. I trust the great dictionary is making good progress.

I send with this a copy of my inaugural lecture on Muslim law.

Yours Faithfully,
Duncan B. Macdonald.
