Heliopolis, Egypt
9 Oct. 1923.

My dear Prof Erman,

I am writing in a hurry to catch this post: I don't think the matter may be delayed a week. So forgive me if I put things too shortly.

We feel worried about your house + Schäfer's in these days. It seems to me your official salary will have all but disappeared. I trust then that you will not take it amiss in an old friend if I beg you to take £25 of the enclosed cheque + ask Schäfer to take the other £25. I ought to write Schäfer a separate letter but am writing this in Government hours on Govt paper and must in a few minutes be in the office signing letters. I wanted to send this weeks ago but we were in Italy and it was not easy. We are just back and into warm weather.

Again say - please excuse this unseemly brevity

Yours most sincerely
J. E. Quibell

P.S. Many thanks for your Anonshymus: I was reading it today in the train
