Hochverehrten Herrn Professor!

Your kind letter about the Mani volume gave me great pleasure, as coming from one whose work has been the mainstay of all my poor efforts in Egyptian, and my ideal of what can be done by scholarship and intuition. I venture to give you my deepest thanks for it.

I am also encouraged to send you a copy of a book of my own, which is just about to appear, and which, if not so serious and important as the Mani, will, I think, both interest and amuse you. It contains a complete account in demotic of a trial in the Court of laocritae in 170 B.C. You need only have read to you the portion of the introduction relating to the trial - 3 or 4 pages - and no more. And above all, please do not trouble to acknowledge it! I would not wish to add to your burdens.

With profound respect and every good wish

Very sincerely yours

Herbert Thompson
