

The University of Chicago

FOUNDED BY JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER

WILLIAM R. HARPER, PRESIDENT

JOHN DEWEY
Head of Department

C. A. STRONG
Associate Professor of Philosophy

J. H. TUFTS
Associate Professor of Philosophy

G. H. MEAD
Assistant Professor of Philosophy

J. R. ANGELL
Assistant Professor of Experimental Psychology

A. W. MOORE
Assistant in Experimental Psychology

W. A. HEIDEL
Docent in Philosophy

CHICAGO

March 2nd 1896

Prof. Dr. Vaihinger,

Dear Professor Vaihinger,

I am very glad to learn from your postal card, just received, that my little article on the "Reputations of Idealism" may be of service. Your classic essay in the "Strassburger Abhandlungen" has laid a debt of gratitude on every student of Kant, and it was only the discovery of new material which made it worth while to add anything.

I hope to be able to send something for the "Kant Studien"

but I am not sure just now what it will be. I am at present looking at the development of his aesthetic theory, with relation to the position in the "Vorlesungen über die Psychologie" (Pölitz), but I do not know as yet what I may get out of it. I shall try to examine also the relations of Hutcheson, Burke and others more carefully. I will notify you as soon as I decide upon a subject.

I had already seen your very kind notice of my dissertation. Very sincerely yours,
James H. Tufts.